A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

The institution, now called the University College, was founded in the year 1834 by the Government of Travancore during the reign of His Highness Sri. Swathi Thirunal Rama Varma, one of the most illustrious rulers of the former State of Travancore, celebrated for his devotion and great contributions to art and culture. The Maharaja had occasion to visit a school that was imparting instruction in English at Nagarcoil under the auspicious of the London Mission Society. He was impressed by the school and the quality of the education given there and was convinced that the new type of school held out great prospects for the people of the State. Shortly, thereafter he invited Mr. Roberts who was in –charge of the school at Nagarcoil to come to Thiruvananthapuram and start a similar school there. The educationist who was an Englishman, agreed and a new school was started in 1834. It was a private institution, but the State Government contributed the prescribed fees for 80 pupils who thereby got free tuition. The classes were conducted in an old building located about half a mile to the south of the University College, on the premises where the Ayurveda College stands today. In less than a year Government took over the school and assumed full responsibility for its management. Mr. Roberts was appointed Headmaster and the school came to be known as ‘The Raja’s Free School’. In the following year the institution was moved to a new building constructed for the purpose on the premises where the University College is now located. The school continued as a free institution till 1863-64. Those were days when education of the western type was being newly introduced in India and the Raja’s free school was one of the earliest institutions in South India established under the auspices of the Government for imparting instruction to the children of the State. It attracted pupils from all parts of Travancore and many of its Alumni rose to high positions in the public life of the State and distinguished themselves in many fields of cultural activity.

In 1866, during the reign of His Highness Sri. AyilyamThirunal Rama Varma Maharaja of Travancore, it was decided that facilities for higher education should also be provided by the Government and the Raja’s School was raised to the status of a College affiliated to the University of Madras. It was named H.H. The Maharaja’s College, though it still had the original school attached to it. Mr. John Ross, an inspiring teacher whom many a Travancore and of the previous generation still remembers with reverence and affection, was the first Principal. Courses leading to the first examination in Arts of the Madras University were started. A spacious building for housing the College was constructed in 1870. It was a two-storeyed structure and has lasted to this day, forming the central block of the main building of the University College which bears the bell tower and the ornamental G.I. roofing at the two ends. In laying the foundation stone of the building, His Highness the Maharaja AyilyamThirunal said:-

“ I consider this a grand occasion. In laying the foundation stone for a College we are in fact imparting strength and durability to a system of public education of a high order which cannot fail to exercise a most important influence on the raising generation and on generations yet unborn.

It is gratifying to me to reflect that English education struck early root in Travancore, that under favourable auspices, it has attained satisfactory growth and that already, pressing on the material limits provided for it by my venerated predecessors, it now calls for enlarged accommodation.

Such a call, it is superfluous for me to say, will at all the times be responded to by the State with the utmost alacrity.

To the numerous pupils I see assembled on this auspicious occasion I will only say: Pursue your various studies with the utmost devotion and perseverance: show yourselves worthy of the anxious care bestowed on you by your country for cultivated intelligence and, even over following into other countries, prove yourselves formidable yet friendly rivals to those whom other colleges send abroad. By such a course you will win credit for yourselves and honour for your country”.

The college was affiliated for the B.A. Degree course to the University of Madras, first in Philosophy, in 1884. Mr. Robert Harvey who succeeded Mr. John Ross as Principal was the first professor of Philosophy. B.A. Courses in Mathematics, Chemistry, History, Physics and Sanskrit and Dravidian Languages followed in quick succession. A galaxy of distinguished Principals, Indian and English, guided the fortunes of the institution during its early years and the ‘Old Colleges’ as it came to be fondly referred to by its alumni and public acquired a pre-eminent position in the affections of the people of Travancore . It was considered an honour and privilege to be a student of the college and to be on its staff. The pick of the intelligentsia of the State was attracted towards it. Among the great scholars who served the institution and won high credit and great reputation forfeit and for themselves by their single minded devotion to the pursuit of higher learning the name of the late A.R. Raja Raja Varma, Grammarian and Poet deserves special mention. He has left a deep impression on the language and the culture of the land. He was Professor of Sanskrit and Dravidian Language from 1910 to 1918 and also acted as Principal from 1915 to 1916.

The B.A. Honours courses in English and History were started in 1914. Provisions for the study of natural Science (Biology) in the Intermediate Course was made in 1922. The school section of the institution continued to function in the same premises till 1919. In October of that year the school was shifted to a new building at Vanchiyoor and the whole of the old building was given over to the College. The strength of the College that year was 561. By 1923, it arose to 837 and there was great pressure for additional accommodation. Therefore in 1924 the Government decided to separate the Arts and Science Departments. This step, which is known as the ‘bifurcations’ was given effect to at the beginning of the academic year 1924-1925. The new institutions that came into being as result of the bifurcation were called. H. H. The Maharajas College of Science and H.H. The Maharaja's College of Arts. The later was housed in a new three storeyed building about a mile away at Thycaud. After the bifurcation, the Science College was affiliated for the B.A. Pass Course in Botany in 1924 for the B.A. Honours Course in Mathematics in 1925 and for the B.A. pass course in Zoology in 1931. In the Arts College in B.A. Honours Course in Malayalam was started in 1935 and the B.A. Honours Course in Sanskrit in 1939. The B.A. Course in Philosophy, though it was first to be started in the Old College, had to be discontinued for many years as sufficient number of students was not forthcoming. It was however, restarted in 1925 in the Arts College. The strength of the Arts College in 1935-36 was 447 and that of the Science College 937.

The two colleges grew from strength to strength and became the premier institutions of higher education in the State. Members of the teaching staff of the Language sections used to be transferred from one college to the other and this alone contributed to the maintenance of some contact between the two. The bifurcation of the Old College brought about a certain dichotomy of the spirit between the Humanities and Sciences and both disciplines suffered there from.' The richness or corporate life springs from the University of its elements'. This was realized by the authorities and in 1942 the two institutions were amalgamated. The reunited College was called the University College. Subsequently, the Intermediate section was separated from it (in 1949) and the College became a Post Intermediate Institution. M.Sc. Courses in Physics and Chemistry were started in June 1941, Botany in 1948 and Zoology in 1950. B.A. Honours and Postgraduate Courses in Philosophy were started in June 1949 and the Honours Course in Physics, Chemistry and Economics in June 1953. B.A. Courses in Politics and Hindi were started in June 1951. B.Sc. Course in Geology was started in June 1953. The M.A. Course in Hindi was started in 1957. As new Courses were started, facilities for advanced research came to be provided both in the Humanities and the Sciences.

In 1957, State Government took over the Management on the College; a special scheme for coaching students for the U.P.S.C. Examination (I.A.S.) was in the College in October 1961. With a view to giving opportunities of higher standard education to employed personnel, an Evening College was started in the College in June 1965.

The college celebrated its centenary in a grand manner in July, 1969, Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, the then President of India, inaugurated the celebration.

The B.Sc. (Special) Course was started in 1966 in Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Botany and Zoology. But these courses were discontinued in 1969 when the Kerala University abolished them.

The Government vide G.O.(Ms) No. 62/93/H. Edn. dated 14.5.1993 decided to shift the Graduate Courses to another campus in a phased manner. Accordingly, the First year classes of eleven B.A. Degree courses were shifted to the new buildings for the graduate Section at Kariavattom during 1993-94 and those of the B.Sc. Degree during 1994-95. The final year classes of the B.A. and the second and final year classes of the B.Sc. Course ceased to function in the college by the end of the academic year 1994-95 and 1995-96 respectively.

The Government has decided to re-introduce the degree Courses and to shift final year B.Sc. classes from University College Graduate Section ,Kariavattom to this College from the academic year 1996-97 onwards.

M.Phil. Courses in twelve disciplines have been newly started from the academic year 1994-95. The University College now comprises 20 Postgraduate departments and 18 Graduate Departments with about 272 members of Staff (teaching and non-teaching) and over 3124 students on its nominal roll.

The College has been recognized by the University as a Research Centre for M.Phil. and Ph.D Degree in various disciplines.

VISION AND MISSION OF UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

VISION

To mould students of this institution into well-meaning citizens of our nation through a socially committed, intellectually inclined, culture driven and future oriented paradigm of learning.

Also to empower the students to aspire for significantly contributing to the Nation through socialist and secular strategies of instruction.

MISSION

- University College, Thiruvananthapuram shall always strive to stride forward and keep pace with the challenging needs and spirit of times. It shall not lounge on its glorious past alone.
- This college shall continue to foster talent and build on its rich repository of fame and prestige.
- This college shall continue to uphold its commitment to the Nation in general and to the society in particular and perpetually strive to carry this out through a series of carefully crafted, scientifically tested and systematically executed steps of action.
- University College shall spare no effort to continue to spread and further its academic potential as well as effluence by providing conducive academic ambience for all classes of students and teachers.
- The college shall signify learning from the past, assimilating the present and planning for the future.

CHOICE BASED CREDIT SYSTEM (CBCS)

Regulations (For U.G. & P.G. Programmes)

1. Eligibility for admission to UG

Eligibility for admissions and reservation of seats for various FDPs shall be according to the rules framed by the University from time to time. No student shall be eligible for admissions to such programme in any of the discipline unless he/ she have successfully completed the examination conducted by the Board / University at the +2 level of schooling or its equivalent. Student enrollment shall be in accordance with the physical facilities available in the college. The College shall make available to all students a brochure listing the courses offered by various departments in the entire programme and the number of seats sanctioned by the University for each programme.

Depending on the academic and physical facilities, the University shall allow the College to admit a certain number of students in 3rd or 5th semester by transfer if required, from other institution subject to conditions prescribed by the University.

The candidates shall have subsequently undergone the prescribed course of study for a period of not less than three academic years, passed the examinations prescribed and fulfilled such conditions as have been prescribed thereof.

2. Duration :

The course is for a period of three years comprising six semesters. No student shall be allowed to complete the programme by attending more than 12 continuous semesters.

The duration of each semester shall be five months inclusive of the days of the examination. There shall be at least 90 working days in a semester and a minimum of 450 teaching hours in a semester. Each academic year shall comprise of two semester viz. Odd and Even semesters. Odd semesters shall be from June - October commences in June and Even Semesters shall be from November –March commences from November every year. There will be, to an extent possible, five days semester break in between odd and even semesters.

A uniform calendar shall be prepared by the University for the conduct of the Academic programme.

3. Programme Structure:

Student shall be admitted to the First degree Programme in the faculties of Science and Arts, Social Sciences and Oriental Sciences in the affiliated Colleges under the regular streams.

It is an instructional package developed to suit the needs of students to keep pace with the developments in higher education and the quality assurance expected of it in the light of liberalization and globalization in higher education.

5. Courses in Programmes

The UG programme consists of a number courses. The term “course” is applied to indicate a logical part of the subject matter of the programme and is invariably equivalent to the subject matter of a “paper” in the conventional sense. The following are the various categories of Courses suggested for the UG programmes.

Language Courses (LC) (any one of, Arabic, French, Hindi, Sanskrit, Tamil etc.), English Language Courses (ELC), Core Courses (CC), Allied Courses (AC), Elective Courses (EC) .

University regulations

The first Degree programme shall include

1. Language courses
2. Foundation courses
3. Core courses in major subjects related to degree programmes
4. Complementary courses on allied subjects
5. Open course
6. Elective courses and
7. Projects/ Dissertation.

The minimum number of courses required for the completion of a degree programme may vary from 30-38 depending on the credits assigned to different courses.

The students shall choose the major subject of study at the beginning of the programme and shall join a department.

The language course shall be offered in 1, 2,3and 4th semesters. Core courses shall be offered from the Ist semester onwards along with the Complementary courses and shall include a compulsory project to be undertaken during 5th / 6th semester. Open course are courses which fall outside the area of the major subjects of studies and are offered by the department other than the parent department during 5th semester.

Open course:

For this, examination should be scheduled by the University and are to be conducted by the college strictly adhering to the schedule. The question papers are to be prepared by the College. Evaluation should be done by the college itself. The student should write the examination in paper supplied by the University. The valued answer scripts may be kept in the College/ Depts. for 2 years. After valuation, the marks should be send to the University within 20 days from the date of conduct of examination.
